

Yin Feng Shui Course

Rondane National Park, near Kvam, Norway.

8th – 10th July 2019

Practical information:

Yin Feng Shui course description and organisation:

Description:

Grand Master Chan is extremely gifted and practiced in tracing energy in any environment. During this year's Yin Feng Shui course, we will explore the area south of Rondane National Park. It is famous for its outstanding natural beauty, rugged mountains and lakes. Please see this video of the area. This environment is perfect for Grand Master Chan to teach students how to follow energy and find a location where we can harness the energy of the natural environment for a lair. These lairs can be used to 'bury your foundation'. We will learn the types of lairs that are suitable for each type of burial, depending on its purpose, location, quality and surroundings. We will also learn some of the conditions required in finding the pulse of each lair. Lairs can be suitable for helping you have a child, improving your health, increasing your wealth or creating greater success in your life. The final day will be in the classroom to collate all our practical experiences. If you have not attended a Yin Feng Shui course before, Susanna Lau, Grand Master Chan's assistant will guide you through the mountain Forms during two short, preliminary classroom sessions. There is an additional teaching fee for these mandatory teachings.

We will base ourselves at Hotel Rondablikk, who's majestic view looks onto the Rondane mountain ranges. If you choose to stay at this venue, it has all accommodation and meals included in the price.

Please note that a lair burial is not included in the teaching fee. If a student wishes a lair burial, then there is an additional Lair Burial fee of £300. Only one lair per student is possible. The lair must be for that student or their immediate spouse, parent, child or sibling. Grand Master Chan wishes that the Lair Burial fee be donated to the Chue Foundation's scholarship fund. There is no guarantee that lairs will be found for everyone. You will receive a refund, if an appropriate lair is not found for you.

How to prepare your foundation:

If you are planning to bury a foundation you will need to prepare your lair BEFORE the start of the course. You'll need a ceramic container that is not see-through, that can be sealed with wax or glue. We found that salt or pepper shakers work well. Inside the container you'll need to put the following items: On a piece of red paper write the person's full name, date of birth, their Ba Zi chart and a wish for the future. Then pierce your skin and drip three drops of your blood (or the person to be buried) onto the red paper. Cut off a piece of your hair and finger nails (or the person to be buried) and wrap them up within the piece of red paper. Place the red paper inside the ceramic container and seal it up, to be completely waterproof, with wax or glue.
